

The Table

The table is calling me home
To look in the eyes of a friend
And forget they were my enemy
And see the way that I can be